Honeywell conducted two additional field investigations in 1999 and 2000, including supplemental lake water sampling in 1999 and the Phase 2A investigation in 2000, based on approved work plans (Exponent, 1999,2000). Data for these investigations are included as appendices to this report, along with the results of data validation.

CHAPTER 3. RESULTS OF FIELD AND LABORATORY INVESTIGATIONS This chapter presents the data from laboratory and field investigations on the studied pavements, as collected by the research team. This data will be analyzed and discussed in detail in the following chapters. Section 3.1 gives an overview of each
